

Purchase of land in Paraguay for cattle fattening

Where?

- Province of Boquerón, Chaco, in the heart of a Mennonite community.

Why Paraguay?

- Key location in the Southern Cone, a major food producing region where land prices have grown significantly in recent years and which is increasingly attracting investors.
- One of the fastest growing economies in Latin America.
- Expanding meat industry. Paraguay is a major beef exporter.
- Prices of land in Paraguay are still significantly below the levels of neighboring countries.

Opportunity for investors:

- Allows investors to profit from land appreciation.
- Opportunity to earn short-term income from a relatively low-risk activity which requires modest capital.
- Possibility of creating two income streams: land ownership and cattle raising.
